87 We publish in to doy's page article from the Provide gard to the war traich Rowland G. His ard, Eq., is endeavoring to wage against Rail Roads generally, and the Stonington Rall Road in particular. We have det itsed this subject with a good deal of est, and, after, a careful investigacion of dil the fects in the sace, without any previous blue of mind one way or the other, we are clearly of the opinion that Mr. Haund is entirely wrong in all his movements. We are satisfied that he is prompted charply by commenced and is striving to carry against the Stonington Rail Bond; he desvers to concent both his motives and his realise against this Road, by placing protended grieveness ages philosthropic grounds; we are willing to admit that in some instances Mr. Herard is a philanthro mant consciondonal pic man -- but we se give him this credit in the core in anaetian persons an investigation of all the facts will not warrant us in so daing. In order to accomplish his object, if passible, Mr. Hagard pretends to make this a general matter, thus hoping to enlist the sympathy of the maniitiated and the incorphis behalf; but we trust that he will not be able to accomplish his object. Let every mamber of the Amenby from Newport County evention the matter parofelly. he fore giving his vote upon any hill which Mr. Hanny's friends may introduce into the Assembly at the present time. We want a Rail Road to this city, but, our word for it, if Mr. Hazard's plane sould be carried out, so disastrone would be their effects. that no road would ever be count or from this city. Mr. Hazard has presented his pretended grievances to the Rail Road Commissioners, who are entirely disinterested insu, and they cannot and do not give him the consolation that he desizes: the fact is his cause in a heal and a very wrong one, and no intelligent man who thoroughly understants the subject, will give him or it the alightest counter

The علميش وا too is one appointed at a town mosting in South Kingstown, to inquire into the expelsion of Rottland G. Hannel from the cars of the Stopington railroad. It commenors with a statement of facts by Mr. Hazard, the vital part of which is a cortifcate from John McGowan, late ticket master on the Boston railroad; then follows it conswhat longer emesment by Mr. Hasard of his disinterestedness and public mitrit in pursuing this matter, together with his house of ultimate success. Next we have Mr. Hazard's speech before the Goneral Assembly denouncing the railroads and those who do not agree with him in his views of their proper management, and a-nally, at a respectful distance, and in hombler type, the remarks of the committee proper. A large portion of those last are made up of extracts from various newspapers and as the abuses which they denot are mainly on the Erie and Camden and Amboy railroads, and as the Guneral Assembly will hardly attempt to assume risdiction over these works, we need reply even if we had any thing to say to it-As the conclusions of the committee, so far as they relate to railroads in Rhode Island, are based upon the continents of Mr. McGowan, we will refer our readers directly to him for the explanation. Nor do we netice the argument that legislation is needed to protect the stockholders of the railroads from their own officers, because if the stockholders are dissatisfied with their officers, the remedy is already in their own bands; they can elect others. If the stockholders are abused by their own servants, ing it for them. in regard to the rule that railroad tickets shall be good only for the day on which they are issued, a rule which prevails on all long routes, the committee observe :

any meens saying "that the travelling public are all dishonest;" that it fis a probable care is proved by the fact that it was done repeatedly till the rule was established.-The committee might as well say to a ma who locked his door at night, that to suppose any one would break in was "a possible case but not a probable one, unless not adopt a rule to protect itself against fraud, because by so doing it charges dishonesty on the whole travelling public does not strike us as being sufficiently forcible to merit a refutation. If, as the committee say, "such outrages as this" [adopting a rule which prevents a man from going twice over a road with the same ticket | "are the natural results of giving irresponsible power to corporations," we think the neople will not regard it as a very strong illus-

The "free tickets" over the Stonington railroad, which the report mays "are scattered over the length and breadth of the State," are less than forty, exclusive of railroad officers and their families, as appears by a report made and sworn to by the President of the company. And yet, with this report on record, the committee go on to

"In one year the Stonington road had 3400 free tickets, and the President says he does not know how many there are now.

"Had," not has, say the committee. This was ten years ago, and as soon as the facbecame known to the stockholders, they immediately reduced them to 200, and subrequently to less than 40. Their own interest prompted the remedy, and they found no difficulty in applying it. They did not need to call upon the General Assembly.

The committee refer to the report of the Railroad Commissioners, but are careful not to quote the conclusion of the minute and able report presented to the General Assembly at the October session. The Railroad Commissioners unanimously rejected Mr. Hazard's bill, as impracticable, unreasonable, and unjust. Three of them recommended nome legislation, but did not say what, and from the very general nature of the recommendation, it is plain that they intended rather a law to prevent possible abuses than to correct existing ones. The other two Commissioners went over the whole ground, took up every compisint, and came to the following conclusion. "We believe that, under all these circumstances, any legislation upon these subjects at this time is unnocessary and inexpedient. It is unavoidable, in the immense amount and variety of business transacted by railand variety of oursiness transacted by rain-road companies, as with other large corpor-ations, that causes of complaint should arise. No doubt that in an equal amount of transaction between individuals, at least quite as much dissatisfaction and difficulty juite as much consequence on any unaccurry occurs, which is adjusted button the ordine-ry tribunals. Those are continually apringry tribunals. The ry trouseast a some are community apring-ing up in the daily operations of commer-cial life. Cases of individual hardship—of a poor man contending with a rich man rapeatedly happen, which it would be imtect the weak, not to oppress the strong, and to provide equal justice to all to the extrement limit of logisticies parability. And oy. And this we halfare will be used accomplished by the well or legal construction upon the der the princest system, and an they been and will be applied by Rhode try.

Hence we doen that the preare best calculated to protect the the citizens of this State, and suffici the trapers, and we do not, therefore, re-commend any legislative action upon the subjects submitted to our consideration at present time."

We come now to what we have already id was the vital part of the report of the South Kingstown committee, the certificate of Mr. McGowan to the effect that he was in the habit of selling Mr. Hazard tickets with a worked understanding that he might tine them other than on the day of their data. It will be seen by McGowan's affidavit, in another part of this paper, that he utterly denies the statement to which his signature was procured in the manner which he describes, and which was an out, rage upon him and upon truth, entirely in keeping with the whole course of this proceeding: It will be seen that Mr. McGow an states the rule of the company in regard to through tickets just as we have stated it and just as every officer of the company will state it. It is the same rule that pre vails on all the long railroad routes, and that is absolutely necessary to prevent them from being cheated every day. It is a rule that no rear onable man can object to, and there can be no doubt of the motives of the man who tries to break through it. To a plain map it would seem very atmuce what could have indeced the publication of this certificate, which, it was evident, could not stand an hour's investigation. But the tes that was made of it shows the object in proearing it. This certificate has been circulated in the report all over the State, before the meeting of the General Assembly. Per titions to the General Assembly have been signed on the faith of this false representation, by hundreds, and will be pouring into the General Assembly. Many who read the false statement will never one this correction, and many whose names were ob tailned to the petitions by this shamefu fraud, will stain before the General Assembly as asking for legislation to which they would be altogether opposed if they undersecond the real facts. The contradiction, at members what means have been resorted to in the double imposition upon them and apon the petitioners. We rufer those who are interested in this matter to the affidavit of Mr. Mc Gowan. Nothing that we can say will add to the impression which it will make on every honest man .- Prov. Jour. THE RAILROAD QUESTION. MR, MC GOWAR'S STATISMENT.

I have noticed with much surprise the bliowing certificate embedied in a statement made by Mr. Rowland G. Hazard, to committee appointed in South Kingstown to examine into the cause of his being put out of the cars, for refusing to pay his fare on the Stonington Railroad ?

This certifies that I, John McGowan, Boston, am now and have been for the last twenty years, the ticket master of Boston and Providence Railroad at the deput in Boston, and have sold through tickets to New Yorksby the the Stenington line since that road was established. I have for neveral years past sold such tickets to R. G. Hexard, of Rhode Island. I generally asked him if he was going through the same night, that I might know whether he wanted a good berth on the boat. Most generally he said he was not going through that night, and in such case I was not partien lar what berth I marked on his ticket, or any at all, and I have said to Mr. Hazard he might go through that day or any other at his own option; and I know that Mr. Hazard and others came from New York to Beston, stopping on the line of the roads the tickets both ways having on the face of them "good for this day only." I sold Mr. Hazard such a ticket on the 16th day of October, 1854, which has no burth marked on it.

(Signed) JOHN McGOWAN, Boston, Nov. 6, 1854.

Witness hereof, F. Smith. Justice to myself and the company in whose employ I have been, demands of me a contradiction of this statement, and an explanation of the manner in which my name came to be signed to it, if it be so signed.

I have been for many years, but am not now, ticket seller for the Boston and Providence Railroad.

The through tickets were stamped 'good for this day only.' I never had authority to well ticken that were good beyond the day of their date.

I never told Mr. Hazard or any one else. a poor man contending with a rich man, repeatedly hyppen, which it would be impussible to reach and remedy by all the laws and the inevitable contengances of the inevitable contengances of the inequalities of fortune or ability among the individual manilers of the body politic, which are beyond the power of legislation to convect. The laws are designed to pro-over the Steelington relieved on any other day, he would se bolder on thes the real part would be action about that; up orders are if me buy a through ticket or not at y and if they allow you to use it in violation to their rules, it is none of my besiness." Buch conversation as this took place between us on neveral occasions. He would sometimes will me that he was not going through that night and did not care berth, and then I was not particular to make one for him, and although I judged from what he told me, that he might have a privilege over the Stenington railread that other people did not, I never gave, nor had authority to give, such privilege. Home time ago Mr. Hasard seked me meet him at the Pourt street House. I was auffering from the offices of a severe blow on my bond which had injured my health and did not go. Mr. Hazard came to see me. I was lying on the sofa. He brought pen, lok and paper. Another man was with him. He took out a through ticket and saked me it it was genuine; I told him it was. He saked the if I sold it to him I told him I did. He asked if it did not entitle him to go all the way to New York I told him it did. if it was need on the day of its date, but that it was not good on any other day. He then said that he would write a certificate to the effect of what I had told him and wished me to sign it. but gave me no information of the use that he intend ed to make it. He wrote a certificate and read it to me ; I did not read it ; but I die tincily understood that it only certified to the genuineness of the ticket, and to the facts as I have stated them. I never would have knowingly signed the certificate which he has published above with my name ; because it is not true. All the offic. ers of the road know that it cannot be traunless I exceeded my authority, which I never did, and Mr. Hazard knows that it is not true, for he knows that I have steadily refused to do what this certificate makes me say I have done. I consider that I have been very much imposed upon in this pub lication, and I hope that this contradiction will reach all those who have been decely ed by the certificate so improperly obtained from me. I should not have been so care less in the matter, but I supposed that certificate was only wanted to show to officers of the Stonington railroad that the ticket was genuine, and had no idea that it would be published, much less that it would appear so differently from what I was made believe that it was when I signed it.
